Hi!
Sooner or later for sure :) Right now I'm preparing some automation for installing different versions of Redmine in Docker containers. As soon as I'm done with it, I will check plugin compatibility with redmine 4.1/4.2/5.0. Might take few weeks though.

Hello ! how are you going? Do you know official RM Docker images? https://hub.docker.com/_/redmine

Tell me if you need help getting this working.

Hi,

I got testing environment to work - finally. There is already commit making plugin compatible with Redmine 4.2. I'm working on 5.0 right now. There are some changes due to autoloading mechanism upgrade in Rails 6 that I need to work out, but it shouldn't take long.
After that there is one migration issue to be resolved. As soon as it's done, there will be next release (of course plugin will be usable before release as well, I'm trying to keep 'master' branch working, with all tests passing after every commit).

So just a little bit of patience and we'll get there :)

I just want to add a change or 2 before tagging next release. You can either pull the latest commit directly (it will work normally) or wait a moment until I'm done.
